CHILLED MEAT PROPOSITION

U.F.A. Committee Reports Shipping Scheme is Quite Feasible.

Delegates from Red Deer district to the U.F.A. convention in Edmonton have reported to their locals that a committee consisting of W. C. Smith, Medicine Hat; C. H. McPherson, Craik; and Wm. Spurrell, of Bowden, had been appointed to report on the feasibility of a chilled meat scheme.

In a reported interview with Mr. Smith and Mr. Spurrell, they state that the committee, after thorough investigation, have concluded that the scheme is quite practicable, in fact, they considered that its adoption is vital to the live stock industry of Western Canada.

WHAT SCHEME ENTAILLED
The scheme would entail the establishment of killing and chilling stations, and a fast system of transportation in specially constructed cars. Suitable cars were already in operation by Swift's and others on the other side of the line. In addition, the scheme would necessitate proper storage facilities in Britain in order that the meat might be placed on the market in a proper condition, and when required.

Mr. Spurrell stated that, at the present time, there was no steady market for production. A stockman might strike the market with a carload of indifferent cattle, that was only half finished, and get $8 for it; while the following day another man, with high grade stuff, might receive 7½¢. Such conditions as these, he said, were, of course, unsatisfactory, and that there was an ever increasing market there for the chilled article.

Mr. Smith stated that stockmen of the west had come to the definite conclusion that something would have to be done to remedy many of the problems of stock growing, or they would simply be driven out of the business.

Incidentally, it was stated that British last year imported more than one million cwt. of chilled and meat, and that there was an ever increasing market there for the chilled article.

OF NO HELP
Referring to the embargo, Mr. Spurrell stated that even if this were lifted it would not help the western stockmen, and it could not be said with any degree of certainty that there would be a market for Canadian stocker cattle. He stated that when freight rates were low it had cost from $25 to $30 a head from Calgary to Liverpool with feed and attendance in addition. Then there would be the possibility of 30 days quarantine. Of course, freights had advanced considerably in the meantime. With the prices that might be obtained for the cattle it would not leave the grower any profit, and as far as the British importers were concerned, it would have to be proved if the lifting of the embargo would make meat half cent a pound cheaper to the consumer.

Asked as to the cost of the proposed scheme, Mr. Spurrell said that they were as yet only in the primary stage of the matter and had not worked out details. It would undoubtedly run into the millions.

A GROWERS' MOVEMENT
He stated that it was a growers' movement and had been suggested to get the stockmen a better deal. At the moment he could not say whether the scheme would be directed through the U.F.A. or whether a company would be formed to carry out the proposition.

Both Mr. Spurrell and Mr. Smith pointed to the fact that ample feed would be grown in Alberta for finishing purposes, and in this connection they pointed to the enormous possibilities of sunflower oil cake. That in itself, they stated, would solve that particular problem, more especially in the dry districts of the province.

Arrangements have been made for the committee to meet the executive of the U.F.A. Thursday afternoon.

IS MY HUSBAND TRUE?

A Clergyman's Wife Wants

Women to Know Advantages of Internal

Bathing.

If women could only see the thousands of letters Dr. Tyrrell has received from grateful women in all parts of the world thanking him for his wonderful invention for Internal Bathing, they would soon discard the medicine bottle and look to the real cause of their trouble. 95 per cent. of all human ills are due to accumulated waste in the Colon, or large lower intestine. Warm water, properly used with the J. B. L. Cascade, will relieve the cause of your troubles, and perfect health will follow.

A Winnipeg clergyman writes: "My wife is naturally sensitive having her name appear in public print, yet is anxious that others should know what the J. B. L. Cascade has done for her. It has really given her a new lease of life. For years she had been doctoring for Constipation, which became worse each year. Since using the J. B. L. Cascade, she has not been sick a day, and has become robust and strong again. Should any person wish this better confirmed, you are at liberty to give my name in private."

The J. B. L. Cascade is shown and explained at Guelph's Corner Drug & Book Co., Druggists, Red Deer, Alberta.

The J. B. L. Cascade is an invention perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has done more during the past few years to restore health and lessen disease than all other means combined. Ask for booklet explaining all about Internal Bathing and what it has done for others. It is free, or write to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 53 College Street, Toronto.

"DR. CLARK OF RED DEER"

As a publicity agent for Red Deer, even apart from his marked contribution to the national life of Canada, Dr. Michael Clark is a winner. His name is known throughout the length and breadth of Canada, and wherever it is read or spoken, it is connected with the name of Red Deer.

Rated as an orator, his words are always listened to with eagerness. When he is announced to speak from the public platform, he is always assured of an audience; and one may rest assured he will get a hearing for he is well able to look after himself. When he speaks in the Commons, the galleries fill, the absent members die in sleep and at an end until he has finished.

He is British to the core, and rings true every time when the nation is in danger. Even free trade is allowed to lie upon the shelf when he speaks, and he threatens free speech and action. Before the war he preached the doctrine of free trade from the Liberal campaign ground. When the war was at the height of its fury, he pleaded from the Union stronghold to back the boys at all hazards.

After the war—what? He is a free trader. He won't go back to the Liberals; he hasn't altogether forgiven them, and anyhow they are not free traders, consistently. He will stay with the National Government because it was not free trade, even presumably. So we find him camped among the National Progressives, the agrarians, because they are nearer free trade in policy than anyone else is.

He is supporting the organized farmer movement; will the organized farmers support him? Time will tell. When re-distribution takes place, will his home be within the bounds of fair desert constituency? Only time will tell.

Whatever the political fates may hold in store for him while he lives, we may rest assured that he will be known in history as "Dr. Clark of Red Deer"—always himself.

Champ Clark, the noted American, is dead, after a short illness, at Washington. He was a powerful factor in United States politics, and was strongly advocated as a candidate for the Presidency when Mr. Wilson was nominated in 1912. He advocated annexation of Canada with the United States.

John Hammond, of Sarnia, Ont., was wheeling a baby carriage along a few days ago, and that baby sure and some kick until it was killed by the police, who, on investigation, owing to the gingerly way John was pushing the carriage, unearthed bottles of Canadian Club whisky under the blanket.

POLITICAL REVIEW

The past week in the political world has passed without any sensational developments. The new British Minister of Agriculture was defeated by the electors on the Canadian cattle embargo question, but otherwise the British government continues to grapple with its problems.

The Dominion Parliament has passed out of the debate on the address stage, and has begun to get down to actual business.

Manitoba Legislators are still talking on the reply to the address from the throne, and doing very little business yet.

The Alberta Legislature is suffering the effects of the speedy disposal of the reply to the address. It seemed commendable at the time that this formality should be disposed of in 24 minutes. But, alas for the unrelenting speeches, the members are working this oratory out of their systems now on the natural resources question and little progress is being made on legislation.

NATURAL RESOURCES
Everybody is agreed that the province should have its natural resources. It is not creditable that legislators should spend days scrapping like school boys as to who is entitled to the most credit in the negotiations which up to date have all been futile. It is time to get down to business on the subject. Evidently the question is not all one-sided and can only be settled by the most careful deliberation of the various provinces and principles involved in joint conference. The exact action that Alberta may take has gone over into another week. The present situation between the Dominion and the Province does not seem to be any too clearly defined by the government.

EDUCATIONAL DISPUTE
The question of the Teachers' Alliance has found its way into the Legislature and developed into open warfare between Hon. G. P. Smith, Minister of Education, and W. M. Davidson, member for North Calgary, and editor of the Morning Herald.

The situation is serious. Calgary teachers are threatening to go on strike this week. It is regrettable that the Dept. had not been able to get the matter cleared up in the early stages of the dispute; the teachers now seem to have the impression that the Minister is antagonistic. The dispute may have far-reaching effects, politically, before it is finished.

GOVERNMENT MAJORITY 25
The division on the King amendment in the Dominion House came Thursday night at a late hour. The government was sustained by a majority of 25, which was fully ten more than had been predicted by the wise men. The result has only had the effect of strengthening the government's position; all the fury and loss of time and effort has not brought to 'no opposition' anything. The Agrarian party lined up with the Opposition on the vote, although not agreeing with all the sentiments expressed.

It is probable that the government will continue to carry on, and very unlikely that there will be any general election for over a year yet. Cabinet reconstruction appears to be an uncertainty.

"PRESIDENT HARDING" NOW
The White House has passed into new hands. President Wilson, was, is now plain Woodrow Wilson. After eight years of most strenuous public life, covering some of the most strenuous days in the history of the world, Mr. Wilson went out of the White House last week, broken in health, even requiring assistance to descend the steps of the official home. History will rank him as one of the big men of the world.

The transfer of authority was accomplished by all the usual ceremonial. We are mainly interested in the international attitude of the new president, consistently. He stated that the U.S. "seeks no part in directing the destinies of the old world."

TREAT OF THE SEASON

The Arlie Marks Co., which is coming to the Lyric Theatre, must be one of the most successful of the unusual; they are thought well of by the press and endorsed by the Trans-Canada, Theatres, Ltd. Miss Marks, who heads her own company, is the daughter of that famous comedian, Tom Marks, who is an accomplished artist, and the press have praised her for the very clever impersonations and portrayals of different characters, and have crowned her with the title of everybody's favorite. She is well supported by some clever performers, well known in the theatrical circles as high-salaried artists.

With Miss Marks in Jane Lamb, late of the Chicago Opera Co., and who is in great demand in the profession. Anna Lynch, prominent in the best of social companies. Adelaide Secord, known from coast to coast as the "Little Stage Mother."

Miss Marks is surrounded by several well-known male members who offer support in a manner which leaves nothing lacking. Dan J. Fendell, Marshall Hale, Bart Gordon, Leon Harvey, Lindsey E. Perrin, Chris. C. Allen and James E. Lynch.

One of the supreme Miss Marks' show is that there are no waits between the acts (no noticeable in the past) as the road shows the acts of up-to-date vaudeville carried to fit in between the acts, with such features as Madeline Heston, the girl with the thousand eyes, who will tell you anything you want to know; the great Heverly, the Heffelf King, the only living man who ever escaped from Sing Sing on a wager; Bert Crawford, the boy who addressed his school; Lindsey E. Perrin, the dancing demon; Hale & Lamb, that funny team. Hising world-class comedians, the royalty plays which really are a two-dollar attraction, at the popular prices that are in the reach of all.

Mackenzie King Amendment Defeated Early This Morning With Vote Showing 116 to 91.

Ottawa, March 4.—The vote on the King amendment for an election came shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. It was defeated by a vote of 116 to 91, a government majority of 25. The Campbell amendment had been previously defeated.

The Campbell resolution calling for recess until after census and redistribution, went down without a word in its behalf, neither mover nor seconder being in the house.

Voting on the King amendment brought a solid lineup of Liberals and Progressives supporting the amendment. Major G. W. Andrews (Winnipeg Centre) and L. Gauthier (St. Hyacinthe), voted against the amendment. Messrs. Bolyon, Molloy, Michalski, Maharg, Reid (Mackenzie) Knox and Kennedy would have voted for the amendment.

Cheers for Hon. Arthur Meighen and thunderous applause greeted the announcement of the result. The address was adopted and the house adjourned at 4:35 a.m.

PRESBYTERIANS ARE PROSPERING

Rev. W. G. McKeechne was appointed Moderator of the Red Deer Presbytery at its meeting in Red Deer last week.

Rev. W. G. McKeechne, Rev. J. S. Short, Olds, Geo. Wood, Olds, and W. P. Code, Red Deer, were selected as delegates to the General Assembly in Toronto next June. Two more delegates will be named by the clerk.

Rev. W. G. McKeechne represents the Synod of Alberta on the Home Mission Board, and will attend a meeting of the Board in Toronto early in April to arrange a summer supply work. This Presbytery is in favor of local supervision of missions as at present.

The reports from various fields were particularly encouraging. The fine new Nordberg church, is nearly paid for, and the congregation will soon be self-supporting. Rev. W. G. McKeechne has been permitted to accept the pastorate of St. Andrew's, a self-supporting congregation, in the city of Winnipeg.

Rev. J. C. Herbinson, Penhold, was appointed interim moderator of the Board in Barrow, and at the same time, Penhold will be self-supporting soon. Willowdale, and Mr. John Fraser, becomes self-supporting at Barrow, and at the same time, Penhold will be self-supporting soon. RESULTS FROM WESTERN RYE

(Experimental Farms Note)

It has long been well known that there exist in nature a large number of different forms of Western Rye grass. Some of them, it has been observed, apparently possessed higher merits from a hay-producing standpoint than the ordinary Western Rye grass available through the trade and, as a consequence, the question of developing new varieties of outstanding qualities was taken up by the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

The task appeared to be very promising from the beginning on account of the large amount of variation which the wild grass exhibited. Indeed, it was not thought, when the work of breeding was first taken up, that results of an outstanding character could be accomplished in a short time. This assumption, however, proved to be erroneous, for it did not take long before it became evident that there is no cultivated grass of which distinct and valuable varieties can be produced more easily.

The Western Rye grass, it was observed, behaved like wheat in the matter of reproduction. That is to say, the various forms breed normally true to type. This means, from a practical point of view, that any form found in the wild state can be developed into a perfectly uniform variety without the slightest trouble. There are under normal conditions no crosses taking place between the different forms and under the circumstances the Western Rye grass breeder can work with a large number of varieties simultaneously.

At present there are some one hundred and forty varieties under test at the Central Experimental Farm. Some of these are decidedly poor and are kept largely as an illustration of what inferior types may be expected in the ordinary Western Rye of commerce. Others, however, are strikingly high-producing as hay plants, and will, it is safe to say, easily outyield the best Western Rye now available. During the course of the breeding many observations bearing on the practical value of the various varieties have been made, perhaps one of the most important ones being that certain varieties develop a much larger amount of aftermath after cutting than do others, a fact which of course greatly increases their agricultural value.

During the next few years comparative tests of a large number of new varieties are planned for throughout the Dominion. In the Prairie Provinces, and as soon as the results of these are considered to be conclusive, the best varieties will be introduced on a large scale and made available to the public.

Once In Western Canada

The people of a great city and its surrounding territory were unable to get their newspapers for a period extending over ten days.

The business of that city was disorganized and almost came to a standstill—the wildest and most improbable rumors were circulated owing to the fact that the community's source of reliable news was cut off. The newspapers had been forced to cease publication owing to shortage of white newsprint.

This condition existed about one year ago and emphasized beyond question the vital importance of the newspaper as a factor in modern life. You cannot live according to modern standards without a knowledge of what is happening in the world. Your newspaper brings that knowledge at a cost to you of less than the white paper the news is printed on.

With its discussions of public questions—its great news gathering organizations—its many features and departments, THE CALGARY DAILY HERALD has achieved a high place among Canadian newspapers and is well worthy of a place in every Western Canadian home.

There is some demand for breeding ewes at Edmonton. Fat stuff is holding unchanged; lambs, $10.50 down; wethers, $9.25 down; ewes, $7.50 down.

Horses—Sales stables at Calgary show quiet trade. Prices very moderate, and buyers can get them at their own prices.

No features in prices this week with daily fluctuations within fairly narrow limits. Government now proposes formation of committees to inquire into whole question of wheat marketing.

Eggs again weaker, and indications point to prices $10.50 to $11.50 next week; receipts increasing rapidly. Creamery butter unchanged, but market more active; Calgary wholesale creamery butter, $10.50 to $11.00; fancy table grade up to 38c, and brought receipts around 37c. Dairy butter very slow and no outlet except for fancy table grade up to 38c, and brought receipts around 37c. Chickens, 20c to 23c; fowl, 18c to 19c; light movement and demand good. Potato market very quiet and dealers see no outlet for shipments; country prices probably around $30.00. Creamery butter at Edmonton was dropped and then advanced again to 37c. It had been expected that cream prices would have been lowered, but they remain unchanged, and butter went up again; some shipments to the coast. Eggs lower at Edmonton, and quoted at $10.50. Dairy butter market still bad, and prices quoted of 17c delivered at Chicago, was later cancelled. Springs now quoted 25c, and fowl 21c; turkeys, 33c to 35c. Western cheese markets quiet, and waiting for eastern prices to drop. Hay—Farmers are getting $8.00 to $12.00 for their hay, with timely $18.00 to $20.00. Dealers getting a few inquiries, but little moving.

Several furs advanced, following St. Louis auctions. Coyotes, $3.00 to $5.00; lynx, $10.00 to $20.00; marten, $10.00 to $25.00; muskrats, 60c to 90c; skunk, $15.00 to $25.00; beaver, $2.00 to $2.50. Hides—Markets are just as bad as ever; it is impossible to say that they are worse, you say it. Wool—Canadian situation better than most nations, but market slow. Efforts being made to clean up before new clip.

Dr. Michael Clark's Eloquence in Commons

HOLDS HOUSE OVER TWO HOURS—DISCUSSES TARIFF, FREE TRADE AND GRAIN PROBE

Ottawa, March 2.—A speech by Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, Alberta, is always an event in the house of commons. It cannot be said that the doctor, as an unyielding free trader who never neglects an opportunity to make public profession of his faith, has much of a following, but he has a great mastery of language, a knowledge of political history, particularly of English political history, and an undoubted eloquence which never fails to fill the chamber when word goes around that he is "up." And he rarely disappoints. Even the most critical usually pay him the great compliment of comparing any speech of his to some other of his own speeches considering greater or lesser. As a parliamentary orator there are few others who can be summoned up to furnish comparisons.

The greater part of his speech yesterday was taken up with a criticism of a speech delivered in the house last session by the present premier, which dealt with the history and results of free trade in Great Britain. Dr. Clark did not like this speech, which was mainly directed at him at the time it was delivered, and he has apparently been brooding over it ever since. Yesterday he elaborated at length on the doctrine of Adam Smith that an excess of imports over exports was a proof of a country's commercial and fiscal soundness, and not necessarily an adverse balance of trade. In Great Britain they had such a so-called adverse balance in 1856, just as Canada had before 1896, yet in both cases great prosperity followed.

SOLOMON FREE TRADER

An excess of imports becomes adverse when it represents borrowings carried too far. Probably the great triumph of the doctrine when he proved, to his own satisfaction, at any rate, that Solomon, the wisest man who ever lived, was a free trader.

He chided the prime minister for "maling the protectionist flag to the mast for life," but, Dr. Clark added, "Mr. Meighen joining in the laughter—any man who can change his mind three times in six months on the luxury tax is quite capable of changing his mind in regard to the tariff."

At the outset of his address, Dr. Clark said he wished to express his sympathy and congratulation to the last speaker, P. H. Hollis, Lisgar, M. A., of London. Dr. Clark said, "I had three sons during the war and since that time had had to face other great losses. He had proved himself in his troubles a true Canadian, and had shown that his sons, who had given their lives for the empire, had behind them splendid family traditions."

To the previous speaker, Mr. Hay, of Selkirk, Dr. Clark said, "I had been bred in the true old Tory school. Mr. Hay believed in the home market, in which connection he was somewhat like the man who bred carp and cats but he found that the home of the house had come requests for an investigation of which the speech from the throne made no mention. The request was a very peculiar one. It was for a commission to inquire and investigate the grain business of Canada. At first sight, the request would appear to be an unheeded and unprinted portion of the speech from the throne.

Second thoughts, however, would lead one to think that the theme would have found a more fitting place in the opposition motion calling for centre of the government.

"If the grain business is wrong," asked Dr. Clark, "who is responsible for it? The government has been in power since 1911, and we have had grain legislation since before this time."

"Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, is absolutely responsible for the grain laws that prevail, and there is a grain commission in existence. The proposal is that we should appoint one government commission to inquire why another government commission is not doing its duty. If we do not know that the first commission is doing its duty, how do we know that the second commission will do its duty?"

Dr. Clark prophesied that if a grain investigation commission were appointed, its proceedings would be very protected. He said he would not likely be submitted until the successors of the present parliament were doing business.

"I think," he said, "we had better leave the findings and the investigations to our successors."

He had little sympathy with the Campbell sub-amendment—people who try to sit between two stools often found themselves occupying a more lowly position. He proposed to support the opposition amendment, but he was not satisfied with it. He did not agree that the government had usurped office, and he thought redistribution should precede an election. If an investigation were held into the grain trade, its findings could hardly be submitted to the present parliament, and, said Dr. Clark, "I think we had better leave the findings and investigations to our successors."

DISEASE IN RUSSIA

The London Spectator prints in a recent number some observations on the medical situation in Russia, by a Russian physician who has served for two years under the Bolshevik government. It is a gloomy and distressing picture. In theory the state supplies free medical aid to everyone, but the service is both inadequate and inefficient. The older and better-trained doctors are mostly gone—dead or escaped from Russia. The communal doctors—and they are all communal doctors now, since no one can practice independently—are almost all young, ill-trained men. Many of them are only medical students, or men without degrees, who as doctors' assistants have picked up a little medical knowledge. The great clinics and hospitals in Petrograd, which were once among the best in the world, are broken up, and there is little opportunity for systematic medical education. There is a serious lack of drugs, so that even when the doctor is competent to diagnose a case and prescribe for it the proper medicine is rarely to be had. Owing to the scarcity of fuel, warm baths are virtually impossible. Even in the hospitals there is no hot water for washing the soiled bed linen.

But nearly all of the disease in Russia comes from the exhaustion of hunger. The soviet authorities have ordered an extra ration of food to sick persons, but it amounts only to a pound or two of flour or a little tinned food and can be had only once a month. Often, after going through all the red tape necessary to receive it, the patient finds that there is simply none to be had.

The situation in Petrograd is the worst. Both the water supply and the drainage system have broken down. The bodies of dead animals are buried in the streets. Epidemics of typhus, of influenza, of smallpox, and of the devastating Russian influenza are trying to infect the infected house, but they do it hungrily for some in the fifth and famine of the decaying Russian cities, break across the border into the only less favorable soil of Poland and Austria and spread thence all over Europe.

Those who are sympathetic with the soviet government assert that the unwillingness of the Western nations to recognize and trade with it is the cause of its unhappy condition. Others blame the incapacity of the Bolsheviks for the lack of food and transportation in a country that is potentially able to produce all the wheat and coal and iron it needs. The complete breakdown of the old imperial system is of course the upderlying cause of all the troubles of Russia. But it is impossible to escape from the conclusion that, if the Bolshevik regime had not begun by deliberately persecuting and starving all the men of capacity and special training in the country, and if it had not insisted on trying to force the administration of Russia into the hands of a fantastic and bookish theory, it could have dealt with the situation far better than it has done.

BOOTLEGGERS SEIZE POLICE

Seven hundred and fifty cases of liquor and eight motor trucks, estimated to be worth close to $100,000, were seized by the police at the Canadian Pacific railway yards, Windsor, Ont., last week, following a sensational, but unsuccessful, attempt by a gang of 15 men to unload a car of whisky, which had come in only an hour earlier, assigned to fictitious individuals.

The men had just commenced unloading, when Constable William Allan, of the local force, came along and being suspicious that all was not right, ordered the men to cease work. Instead of doing so, one of the liquor agents, according to the story related by the officers, offered him $2,000 cash to forget it. The money, however, proved no temptation, and when Allan tried to enforce his order he was seized, handcuffed with his own handcuffs, and thrown into an automobile, which sped away toward Sanwich.

 Allan says he escaped by diving from the auto into a snow bank, from whence he crawled half a mile to a telephone and sent in the alarm. Officers reached the depot in time to seize three-quarters of the 1,000 cases of the consignment of whisky, as well as the fleet of trucks which was waiting to rush the shipment to a place of safety.
 None of the rum traffickers were apprehended, all making their escape before the arrival of the men from headquarters.
 The seizure is one of the largest ever made.

SOVIET RULE

IN JEOPARDY

London, March 2.—Reports from Russia, received this morning in Helsinki, Finland, disclose a situation which may result shortly in the complete overthrow of Soviet rule, says the Central News Helsinki Correspondent.

Fighting is proceeding in many parts of Russia, with Petrograd and Moscow as the centres of the revolutionary movement. The fighting in Petrograd is of gigantic proportions, according to the reports for 2000 strikers are declared to be arrayed against the Soviet troops, whose exact number it is impossible to estimate.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

London, March 2.—Reports received in Helsinki today from anti-Soviet sources tell of an anti-Soviet rising in Russia. They state that the situation in Russia is serious. The latest official news received, however, did not indicate that the Soviet government had lost control.

THE VALUE OF CULLING AND SELECTING THE DAIRY HERD

(Experimental Farms Note)

For the past eight years an experiment on the grading up of a dairy herd from the common stock of the district for the use of pure bred sires from high producing dams has been carried on at the Experimental Farm at Nappan N.S. All females good and poor alike, have been retained in the herd, not because it is the usual policy followed by the Experimental Farm, but for experimental purposes. The record has been kept of all feed consumed, and all milk produced has been weighed and tested for fat content. Thirty-one have completed one or more lactation periods. When checked up by the standard milk, milk and milk and milk test method, eighteen cows in this experiment had completed a lactation period during the year 1924-25. The average production of 5268 pounds of milk testing 3.56 per cent fat and yielding 225.24 pounds of butter, at a feed cost of $4.18. The average profit over feed was $23.02 or 44 per cent. The average milk is higher than that of the average dairy cow of the district. In order to be considered high enough to keep the cow out of the border class, but not high enough to return much profit, let us see how selection would have affected the above mentioned results.

An examination of the records shows that 8 of the 31 cows gave less than 5,000 pounds of milk, and these two gave less than 500 pounds and one less than 3000 pounds. Taking 5000 pounds as a fair standard of milk production, 4.6 per cent of the group would have had to be culled out. The ten remaining cows gave an average yearly production of 5268 pounds of milk testing 3.56 per cent fat and yielding 225.24 pounds of butter, at a feed cost of $4.18. The average profit over feed was $23.02 or 44 per cent. The average milk is higher than that of the average dairy cow of the district. In order to be considered high enough to keep the cow out of the border class, but not high enough to return much profit, let us see how selection would have affected the above mentioned results.

The efficacy of the Babcock test was also brought out very strongly by this experiment. For example of two cows, one gave 6089 pounds of milk testing 2.9 per cent fat, yielding 207.75 pounds of butter at a feed cost of $5.87 and a profit over feed of $17.59, while the other gave 3976 pounds of milk testing 4.8 per cent fat yielding 162.92 pounds of butter at a feed cost of $4.75 and a profit over feed of $17.06. From a butter production standpoint these cows were practically of equal value, but if milk were the product sold the former would be much more profitable than the latter. The poorest cow in the eighteen gave 2113 pounds of milk, testing 2.9 per cent fat, yielding 72.07 pounds of butter at a feed cost of $5.05, but such a cow might easily be retained in the herd were not these tests applied.

A careful study of the individuals in a herd to ascertain which makes profitable use of the feed consumed is often warranted. For instance, one cow gave 7999 pounds of milk testing 3.3 per cent fat, yielding 219.55 pounds of butter at a feed cost of $5.23 and profit over feed of $50.22. Another cow produced 6089 pounds of milk testing 3.7 per cent fat, yielding 230.38 pounds of butter at a feed cost of $4.43 and a profit over feed of $49.29. This shows that the latter cow did not respond as economically to feed consumed as did the former, even though she consumed extra feed to the value of $6.10 and had 4 per cent fat in her milk, also made 83 cents less profit.

Moral: Pick a standard of quantity, quality, and economy in milk production for your cows to go by. Buy a milk scale (which may also be used as a feed scale) and a Babcock tester, weed out the star boarders. At them for the butter; feed the real producers the extra feed; then watch the profits grow.

TELLS OF MISSION WORK IN FAR NORTH

C. F. Hives, of Lac La Ronge, Visits Saskatchewan: Large Mission School to Replace One Destroyed by Fire Will Be Built This Summer.

(Saskatoon Phoenix)

Tales of the work of teachers and missionaries among the Indians at the most northerly point of the Province, were related by Mr. C. F. Hives, principal of the school at Lac La Ronge, 200 miles north of Prince Albert, in an interview last night at the home of Dr. Arthur Wilson, with whom Mr. Hives is staying for the next few days.

Who live in an up-to-date civilized city have no idea of the conditions prevailing in the little known country lying a few hundred miles to the north. We can ride home from our office in modern and comfortable street cars, turn on the electric light in our well-heated rooms, communicate with our friends by means of our automatic telephone system, and go to the theatre to see Sir John Martin Harvey or some other great artist. If we wish to travel a hundred miles or so, we phone the ticket office, obtain transportation, telegraph the hotel in the city to which we are going, reserve a room and dine the hard-earned money in a few hours on a modern passenger train.

LONG SLEIGH JOURNEY

Contrast this with the means adopted by Mr. Hives to reach his destination at Lac La Ronge, only 200 miles from Prince Albert. He will take the train to the northern city, where it will be necessary to obtain horses and sleighs and provisions for a journey of about four days. There on the trip will be done over poorly broken trails, and through deep snow in places; the party will cross Montreal Lake, where it is reported that the weight of snow has depressed the ice until large pools of water are on the surface; and after the lake it will be a case of making the best of their way over practically virgin country to Lac La Ronge.

The settlement at Lac La Ronge consists mainly of the Hudson's Bay Company's post, Revillon Freres stores, and a few Indian shacks. The school of which Mr. Hives is principal was burnt out completely last year, a cause of great distress to the Indians, and, in fact, all the settlers. In the winter, the Indian inhabitants make their homes in shacks built of animal skins from the heavy timber which abounds, by a saw-mill established by the mission school. The shacks are of solid construction and are heated principally by open fire, which are recommended by the mission as being more healthy than stoves. A few of the harder ones live in the primitive tepees of their fathers.

TO REBUILD SCHOOL
The school will be re-built some time next summer, and it is expected that the formal opening will take place in September. The school is already under way and the basement is excavated to a size of about 127 by 40 feet. It will be made of a mixture of two class rooms, while the rest of the space is taken up with living quarters, and a kitchen, where the general work of assisting the Indian population will be carried on by the principal and staff of several ladies, who will carry on the various duties of school and kitchen matrons, boys and girls, seamstresses, and nurses. Mr. Hives reports that he has found a few Indian children to be bright and intelligent in his studies. The work given to the boys consists mainly of ordinary public school education, manual training with the elements of carpentry, and a sort of general training calculated to make them useful for the life they will have to lead in the north country. For the time, the course is principally sewing, household science, cooking, etc., and the usual school work.

TO BE ESTABLISHED

Recently the mission managed with a great deal of trouble to establish a hospital at the post, and elementary medical assistance can be rendered to the sick. The addition of a nurse to the staff of the new school will fill a long felt want.

Mr. Hives and his wife, who is at present unable to travel owing to illness, will leave for Lac La Ronge in about two weeks' time. As a rule they do not expect to return to civilization for the winter, but in the past less than three years, as the journey is too difficult to be made frequently. During last year, owing to the extraordinary occurrence of the fire, Mr. Hives made four trips in and out, but in ordinary circumstances he would not attempt half so many. Even in summer, when the trip is made by canoe from Montreal Lake, portages and difficulties of the trail made it extremely arduous and trying. There are no other passenger routes by way of The Pas, Man., and the Churchill River, but this made equally difficult by the fact that the work of portage is all upstream, and therefore very slow and wearing. Travelling by this route is a real feat of strength.

At the post, Mr. Hives had the misfortune to have one of his Indian guides fall a victim to a disease and die when about half-way up the river. He gives a colorful testimony of the muscle-straining nature of the work of portage, the heavy canoe and paddling against the swift current of the Churchill for miles from Montreal Lake, and the supervision and is maintained by the American missions. At the opening of the new building next September it is expected that some official from Ottawa will be present to perform the initial ceremonies. Some six or seven hundred Indians from the reserves in the vicinity will be thoroughly impressed and astonished by the many modern features which the new building will possess. None of them has yet seen an electric light for instance, and the new building will be fully equipped with the latest Delco system supplied by the Loney-Denson Co. of Saskatoon. With the opening of this building Lac La Ronge will have the furthest north school in the province of Saskatchewan.

Boy Scout display and concert—Wednesday, March 30th.

It is rumored that 500 men plan to march on the Legislature at Edmonton today concerning unemployment.

For style and durability the Lloyd loom woven baby carriages now on display at Best's cannot be beat. The prices are most reasonable, considering the quality of the goods.

HILL END NEWS

Rev. Mr. Meek, our former pastor, was visiting Hill End a few days ago. Everyone was glad to see him again. The Sunday evening services are well attended and Mr. Fraser's sermons are much appreciated.

Mr. M. Healy is now living in his new residence, which, when completed, will be fully modern.

We must congratulate Mrs. F. Speakman for the interesting letter describing U.F.W.A. convention, which appeared in The News.

Mrs. Thos. Eastman, formerly of Hill End, but now in Victoria, has been sick, but is much better.

Mrs. Gulliver is visiting Mrs. Hill for a few days.

The box social was a great success. Rev. Mr. Meek very ably filled the chair. The following programme was given by Hill End talent and was most interesting.

Chairman's address; recitation, T. J. Day; solo, Mrs. Speakman; recitation, Dick Pickett; recitation, Minnie Hill; recitation, Ruth Egger; solo, Mrs. Partridge; recitation, Daisy Truitt; recitation, Clare Egger; solo, Mrs. Mitchell; recitation, Dick Pickett; solo, Marjorie Speakman; recitation, Annie Pickett; recitation, Minnie Pickett.

There were also several interesting dialogues given by the Speakman family and Miss Fowler, the Pickett family and Jack Galsworthy and Tom Day and James Speakman.

After the programme was finished Mr. J. Galsworthy acted as auctioneer. This was very exciting for both young and old. The boxes ranged from a wheelbarrow to a car, including a log cabin and school house. There were twenty-seven boxes, and we realized ninety-seven dollars. The highest one brought nine dollars.

The social closed with God Save the King, after which everyone went home, but well pleased with an evening's enjoyment.

T. A. Burrows, well known lumberman, Winnipeg, and T. R. Fenton, manager for Mr. Burrows at Grandview, Man., went on the Monday train to look over the company's lumbering operations there. Mr. Burrows complains that he can't depend on the Alberta winter and fears it has left with a lot of timber still in the bush. It's pretty hard to please the stock man and the lumberman both in the same winter.

It all happened so naturally. Scotchmen usually have decided opinions, especially when the subject is horses. Needless to say, they took opposite sides on the question, yet the restraint of court room surroundings kept their tongues subdued. But when they got outside it was different. Farmers always prefer the outdoor life. One spoke, the other called him a liar.

Physical argument ensued. After rolling in the snow for a while, the result was a draw, that is, part of the crowd drew one of them while the other drew the other—apart. You can't always call a man a liar in Red Deer and get away with it.
